

Tax Collection To Start in May

by the state, his staff would start immediately figuring the tax bills. They will be turned over to county treasurer one district at a time as they are completed, he added.
The auditor estimated the books could be ready within two weeks. After they are turned over to the treasurer, the bills have to be typed up and mailed out. That will take more time, but just how much not certain.
Meanwhile, the treasurer will be busy collecting the personal tax. The deadline for these payments has been set for April 30.
Fabb said that to avoid confusion, the real estate tax collection would not start until "between May 1 and May 10," depending on when the bills are made out.
And, he said, the collection could be for the entire year—the payment that was due in December and the one due June 20.
It was explained that the tax bills always are made out for the full year and the records show that many pay the full year's taxes at one time, anyway.
Although the valuations have been hiked by approximately one-third, the dollars and cents laid down for taxes this year will be just about the same as in the past. The only increase is the estimated $26,000 for hospital operation.
When the rates were fixed, they were reduced to yield approximately the same amount of money as each subdivision got last year.
In only two of the county's 36 taxing districts, were the rates not reduced. In both cases, Wayne Township and the Perry-Wayne school district, extra levies were voted for specific purposes. In Wayne Township, a two-mill school levy was voted (it was cut to 1.6 mills) and in the Perry-Wayne district there was the school levy and fire protection levy (cut from one mill to .8 mill).
Just for example, the rate for the hospital levy was cut from .7 of a mill to .5; the rate for the county was reduced from 2.65 mills to 2.5 mills; the rate for Washington C. H. was cut from 19.1 mills to 15.4 mills.
Following is the schedule of rates Acton is submitting to the state Tax Department. It does not show all of the complete breakdown of the rates, but it does hit the highlights. The first column shows the total levy for schools, the second shows the total levy within the 10-mill limitation, the third gives the rate for levies voted outside the 10-mill limitation, the fourth shows the present rates based on the increased valuations and the last column shows the old rates based on the valuations before the reappraisal.

Mrs. R. S. Park Dies Early Monday

Mrs. Nannie Jane Park, 79, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Williams at 912 South Main Street at 12:10 o'clock Monday morning following an illness of eight years duration. She had been in a critical condition since last Saturday.

Her survivors include four sons, Modia of Columbus; James of Chillicothe, Richard of Washington C. H. and Barton of Springfield; seven daughters, Mrs. Sarah Ford and Mrs. Jane McNarey, both of Urbana; Mrs. Bessie Nixon and Mrs. Stella Fix, both of Columbus; Miss Mary Park and Mrs. Margaret Williams, both of Washington C. H. and Mrs. Bernice Kyle of near Washington C. H., 17 grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, one brother, John Mick of Chillicothe; two sisters, Mrs. Georgia Pollock and Mrs. Edith Swartz, both of near Lyndon.

Friends may call at the home of her daughter, 912 South Main Street after 7 o'clock Monday evening. Funeral services will be held at the Bourneville Methodist Church in Bourneville at 10:30 A. M. Thursday, with burial to take place in the Twin Township Cemetery in Ross County.

Mrs. J. Richardson Dies at Home Here

Mrs. Mary Ellen Richardson, 85, died at her home at 127 West Elm Street at 6:30 o'clock Monday morning following an illness which lasted four weeks.

Her husband, Joseph, preceded her in death in 1914. Born in Gallia County, she is survived by the following:

Three sons, Orville of Springfield; J. Austin and Edgar both of Washington C. H.; a daughter, Mrs. Orpha Willis of Washington C. H., seven grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and a brother David Lewis of Clean Coal, W. Va.

The body will remain at the Parrett Funeral Home until time for funeral services, which will be held at the First Christian Church on North North Street, at 2 P. M. Wednesday, with Rev. C. B. Tigner in charge.

Burial will be made in the Washington Cemetery.

Funeral Services for Nathan McCallister

Funeral services for Nathan McCallister were held at 2 P. M. Sunday at the Parrett Funeral Home, with Rev. Russell Knisley in charge.

Rev. Knisley read the scripture, offered prayer, delivered the sermon and read the hymn, "Precious Memories" and the poem "Reaper."

The funeral was well attended.

Two from Here To Go to Kent State

Neil Hercules, city editor of the Record-Herald, will leave Tuesday morning to attend the ninth annual short course in press photography, to be held from Tuesday through Friday at Kent State University.

He will be accompanied by Bob McNemar, editor of the Wilmington News Journal, and Jim Strevey of Washington C. H.

There will be 300 press and industrial photographers in attendance at the four-day session.

Chairman of the session will be William C. Eckenberg, staff photographer for the New York Times and an instructor of press photography at Columbia University's School of Journalism.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a recapitulation of the Chicago Daily News' recent series on Chicago's Skid Row by Everett Norlander, managing editor, and Andrew Miller, chief photographer.

Among some of the other speakers who will appear before the group are Frank L. Mott, dean of the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri, and Robert Dumke, chief of the Milwaukee Journal.

Twin Sister Killed

a neighbor's. Alice joined her at 11 P. M.

The girls got home about 2 A. M. Sally went to sleep. Alice lay awake brooding.

She arose, went through the darkened house, groped until she found the rifle and cartridges—and shot Sally.

Then she telephoned the sheriff's office: "Come to 4721 Harvey Avenue, there's been a murder."

That awakened her mother, who grabbed the phone and said, "don't be too hasty. She's having a nightmare."

Alice led her mother to Sally's body.

The horrified mother called officers right back: "It's true."

INCHES OF GAS AND BLOAT GONE: WAISTLINE WAY DOWN

"For years I was actually afraid to eat anything because due to excess stomach acidity everything I ate seemed to sour and become indigestible causing me to become bloated with stomach gas. My waistline became enormous. I started taking Ead-All and now I can enjoy eating my meals without that horrible gas bloat. Life again is pleasant." This is one of many unsolicited testimonials received.

Ead-All is a new medicine that goes right to work giving symptomatic relief from burning stomach and awful gas pains resulting from hyper-acidity. Miserable people soon feel different. Don't go on suffering, get Ead-All. Sold by Downtown Drug Co.

Younger Group Has St. Patrick Party

Several young people of the county held a St. Patrick's Day party and get-together at Memorial Hall, Friday evening. Nearly 100 members of the group were present.

The group has been sponsoring a party for the rural young people of the county approximately every three months. The meetings are usually scheduled to be held when many of the county young people are home from college, either over a weekend or between semesters.

A number of the group will attend the Ohio Folk Festival held in connection with Farm and Home Week Friday and Saturday at Ohio State University.

The next meeting of the group will be Monday evening, April 3, at the county extension office, at which time the election of officers for the coming year will be held. Miss Ruth Engle is the present chairman.

Burglars Visit Southern Fayette

Sheriff Orland Hays today was seeking burglars who Saturday evening visited the homes of Rex Bloomer and Wayne Bloomer on Route 70, two miles north of Greenfield.

From Rex Bloomer's home they took a power spray, hand saw and power clippers. From Wayne's home they broke a lock on a building, where two bushels of timothy seed was kept, and stole some seed.

Sunday the seed was found where it had been abandoned in a field near the Bloomer home.

It is believed the thieves were after clover seed, which had been kept in the building, but which had been moved to a place of greater safety.

Grain Market

CHICAGO, March 20.—(AP)—Soybeans paced the grain market higher on the Board of Trade today. Beans rose more than 4 cents at times, all contracts except November going to new seasonal highs. The market was featured by a lack of selling pressure.
All corn except March, as well as March and May oats, established new seasonal tops. Wheat showed strength but was unable to touch new peaks.

Bills bought wheat, evidently lifting hedgies against fairly large sales of flour to an eastern chain baker. Export houses supported corn.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP)—When Judith Coplin was tried here last year as a spy for Russia, some FBI files were dragged into the case.

This was done over the protest of the government lawyers. They had reasons:

1. The files contained the names of people not connected with the case at all.

2. The files betrayed some FBI course of information. And—

3. The fact that a man's name was in the FBI files make a lot of people think there was something wrong or disloyal about him.

Some innocent names were in those files. That's the point of this story.

The FBI files contain information about a lot of people. For all you know, your name may be in an FBI file.

Since the FBI has the job of checking on the communists, it receives a lot of information, some true, some silly, some malicious.

Being a police agency, it may never know when this information will come in handy. When it thinks the information worthwhile, it investigates.

But—no matter how namaging the evidence it uncovers—the FBI at no time passes judgement on the people it investigates.

Passing judgement is not its job. Investigating it.

When the FBI has gathered information which makes it appear a person has violated the law, it turns this over to the U. S. district attorney.

If he thinks there's a case, he lays the information before a federal grand jury, made up of citizens.

Then, if the grand jury thinks there's enough evidence to warrant a trial, it indicts.

The indicted person then must stand trial before a trial jury. If that jury finds him guilty, he's considered guilty, but not till then.

It's the jury which passes judgement on a man, not the FBI. All these steps are part of the system set up in this country to protect the rights of everyone's individual liberty.

But if a police agency—whether it's the FBI, the Nazi gestapo or the Russian secret police—is given the right to arrest a man and pass judgement on him without a trial, each man's right to due process of law, as we have had it in this country, is gone.

And once a police agency can arrest and judge a man, no man is safe.

But now comes a bill, passed

Award Presented To Good Hope Pack

Cub pack No. 136 met Friday at the Methodist Church parsonage in Good Hope for a St. Patrick's Day party. Earle Henderson and Ray Graft, scout leaders in Fayette County, were on hand to outline the scout program for the coming two years.

They presented the cub pack with the Fred J. Milligan state award for reaching its quota of members during the past year. Mrs. Lawrence Hoppes and Mrs. Elza Overly, den mothers, were in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Hoppes, Mrs. Overly and Mrs. Howard Newman served refreshments to the youths.

The next meeting of the cub pack, a potluck, is to be held at the Wayne Township Hall for both the boys and their parents.

Rev. Eugene Frazier, pastor of the Good Hope Methodist Church, is the scoutmaster for the pack.

by House and Senate, to set up a government agency—to be called the National Science Foundation—which will give scholarships, paid for by the government, to scientists.

The House—but not the Senate—put a tail on the bill, an amendment, before passing it. This is what it would do:

It would require the FBI to check on everyone getting such a scholarship and make a definite finding on his loyalty or disloyalty.

In other words, this would give the FBI the right to investigate and pass judgement. The investigated person wouldn't have a chance to clear himself or demand proof which he could try to refute.

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, wants no part of that. Neither does the justice department. The department's views were expressed in a letter to House members by Peyton Ford, assistant attorney general.

He said that if the bill became law with that provision in it, it would:

"Effect an extremely radical and undesirable change in the basic responsibilities and functions of the FBI also, in my opinion, would bring about a departure from American concepts of justice and democratic government."

Since the House passed one bill and the Senate another, both houses will have to agree on a single bill before it can be sent to the president to be signed into law.

It's probable that the House will agree in this process to drop the part which would make the FBI policeman, judge and jury.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD".

Public Gives Officials Little Attention

Probably many of our officials, city and county, here in Washington C. H. and Fayette County, and elsewhere over the state and nation, have a just complaint against the public.

Many times we have heard some of them mention the fact that they get criticism when anything is done that is not pleasing to the people but seldom does the average citizen take any interest in what his officials do unless he thinks he will be personally hurt by some action.

On the other hand, we have heard some citizens say that they are not being paid to do the job and that the officials are; that these officials are expected to do a good job because they asked for the positions they fill. When they fail in their responsibility, the public has a right to complain.

Nevertheless there is justice in the contention that the public should take more interest in what their officials are doing. The public pays little attention to many important official actions, but the pressure groups and various selfish individuals are constantly looking after their own interests. These are the ones that bring influence to bear on officials.

If any dozen or fifteen citizens, picked at random, in this or most other localities, were asked whether they had attended a board of education or city council meeting, or a county budget hearing, within the last year, it would be very unusual to find more than one, maybe two among them who could answer "yes".

Almost everyone thinks he is pretty busy, but few are so busy that they could not squeeze in an occasional visit to the meetings of these local governing bodies. Most citizens find themselves richly rewarded for their trouble. The person attending one of these meetings for the first time usually has his eyes opened by the variety and scope of business items claiming attention. Many a taxpayer, reading next day about some new municipal or county enterprise, has explosively wondered what in the world they are doing with his money. A visit might give him a rough idea.

Government would be better, too. Naturally the occasional visit of one individual to council and board meetings will not have much effect, but the cumulative effect of the visits and obvious interest of many individuals can be great. The men and women elected to these bodies know that they are chosen to represent the people, but too often the people leave them thereafter to work alone.

Coal Strike Aftermath

One of the imponderables which mine workers must do well to ponder as the aftermath of the coal strike is the possibility that coal mining may be declining in importance as a source of future power. Removing the question of atomic energy from the picture for the moment, it is already evident that oil and gas are cutting sharply into the usefulness of coal as a source of power for the nation's fuel needs.

Large utilities have already moved towards the substitution of oil for coal. New railroad locomotives already on order list twelve to be powered by steam and 1130 by oil. Oil and gas furnaces are now the rule in home construction. Only big steel is still in the coal age. John L.—before you strike, investigate.

In dreaming up commemorative periods for next summer let's get in line now for "Relax in the Hammock" week.

The dollar is getting so anemic we're beginning to doubt that money talks.

Letter from the Heart of a Girl

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK.—(AP)—There is a great and growing religious revival in America.

Significantly, it is spreading widely among the youth of our post-war generation, the generation that is usually a prey to doubt, disillusion and cynicism.

Recently I received a letter from one of these young people—Miss Josephine Owens of West Helena, Ark.; that told of the happiness her awakened faith had brought her.

Her letter was simply written, artlessly sincere, fervent with a desire to help others. She said I could give her letter a wider audience if I wanted to, "because it is so important that people wake up."

And so I will. Here is one girl's Lenton sermon—an old message from a young and zealous heart:

"Oh, if I could get everyone to become a Christian, what a blessing it would be for them! 'I used to worry continually about money matters, the hydrogen bomb, etc. Now those things aren't important at all. Only God is important in my life. I only want to live so that I can serve him. He will keep me from harm—and also anyone else who will believe in him and trust and have faith.

"God has made a 'fisher of men.' My purpose now is to win others for him. But people are hard. They don't want to know about God. But once they do, then they see what they have been missing.

"God does many things for men which they take for granted. Think of the air, the sun and rain, the clothes we wear, the food we eat—and so many, many other things. God makes all these possible, but people take them for granted. If they don't get them they raise all kinds of Cain about the senators, the president and the governors—when, if it weren't for God's good hand, these things would never even be.

"Think how wonderful he has been to America! We don't have a war-torn country like Europe and Asia. We have just about every possible comfort and joy, and yet we turn our backs on the Saviour.

"You say it is difficult to be a Christian? Well, dear people, once the loving Saviour has truly touched your hearts, you won't want to do wrong. You will only want to do the Lord's will.

"The other day I asked a poor, crippled Negro man who was begging on the street, 'are you a Christian?' And he replied, 'yes'm, for 40 years.' Just think, that poor soul, crippled and having to beg for a living, giving 40 years to Christ!

"Once people know Christ they never want to leave him. He is more important than anything or anybody. And the sooner people find this out, the better off they will be.

"Oh, dear people, wake up! Know and accept Christ as your Saviour. Give your heart to him. Serve him and he will truly bless you. Repent of your sins. Confess your sins, believe in him, obey his will, and you will receive a greater joy than any you have ever known."

Old Adage --- Birds of a Feather

By George Sokolsky

Guilt by association is an ugly doctrine. Among some primitive peoples, if one member of a family were accused of a crime, every member of the family is held accountable. In some schools, teachers still hold an entire class responsible for the conduct of one pupil, which is form of socializing guilt repugnant to our way of life which is based on individual responsibility.

However, the term, "guilt by association," as it is currently being used, is something quite different. What we do is to follow the old adage, "birds of a feather flock together." We go back to the proved sociological postulate that where there is a community of kind, there is likely to be an association of those who have similar tastes. When, therefore, a person appears on a large number of Communist or Communist front activities, the assumption must be that that person has made a voluntary choice to associate with such people and their activities.

Take, for instance, the case of Dorothy Kenyon. The lady says that she is not a Communist and has never been one. We must take her word for that. But how shall this record be explained?

1. The American committee for democracy and intellectual freedom petitioned to discontinue the Dies committee. This organization existed to defend Communists from investigation; Dorothy Kenyon appears among the signatories.

2. American committee for protection of the foreign born has been officially declared subversive. This organization was established by the Communist party and has been closely linked to the international labor defense (also listed as subversive); Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

3. In 1944, a number of American women of distinction sent greetings to the women of Soviet Russia. (We were then allies in war.) Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

4. From 1934 to 1941, one of the principal transmission belts of Communism in this country was the American youth congress. Dorothy Kenyon appeared there.

5. Earl Browder, testifying before the House committee on un-American Activities in September, 1939, described the consumers national federation as a Communist transmission belt Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

6. The coordinating committee to lift the embargo was a Communist front organized to aid Soviet Russia's efforts in the Spanish Civil War. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

7. The council for Pan American democracy was organized and supported publicly by the Communist parties of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Chile, Cuba and Venezuela. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

8. The descendants of the American revolution was designed to be a left-wing organization to compete with and ridicule the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

9. A group of organizations came into being to bring presures on the motion picture producers to produce pro-Russian and pro-Communist films. The most active was "Film Audiences for Democracy." Dorothy Kenyon appeared on the advisory board.

10. Simon W. Gerson, an active and admitted Communist, was given public office by the Borough president of Manhattan in New York City. This led to an active protest. A committee was formed to defend Gerson. Dorothy Kenyon appeared on that committee as representing the consumers union.

11. The lawyers committee on American relations with Spain was on the Communist side of the Spanish revolution. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

12. League of Women Shoppers has been declared a Communist-front by the House committee on un-American Activities after pro-longer investigation. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

13. The National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, successor to Friends of the Soviet Union, has been officially declared subversive. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

14. For many years, Tom Mooney's imprisonment was used to raise money for the Communist party. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared on the New York Tom Mooney committee.

15. Political prisoners bail fund committee was organized to aid arrested Communists and left-wingers. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

16. Morris U. Schappes, an admitted Communist, was tried in a court for perjury and convicted. The Schappes defense committee was organized for him. Dorothy Kenyon's name appeared there.

I have cited these examples to show a pattern of activity. This pattern does not necessarily make Miss Kenyon a Communist, but it does, in my opinion, open to question her judgment and her associations. In the present war between this country and Soviet Russia, the constant association, for whatever reason, must stimulate concern.

Diet and Health

Sense of Balance Is Aided by Ears

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE body's sense of balance largely depends on three little structures known as the semi-circular canals which are located within the ears. These canals are tiny tubes filled with fluid.

Anything which damages or disturbs the functioning of these tubes can cause either dizziness or vertigo, as occurs in ear sickness and seasickness. Though these two symptoms are likely to be confused by the average patient, they are actually different. Dizziness is an unpleasant feeling of unsteadiness, often accompanied by a feeling of movement within the head. In vertigo, the patient has one of two impressions, either that the world about him seems to be whirling, or that he himself is spinning around.

Semi-Circular Canals
Either of these conditions may be due to damage of the parts of the brain which control the semi-circular canals. Such damage may result from tumors, abscesses, changes in the blood vessels, or certain diseases, such as multiple sclerosis or encephalitis. The latter is an inflammation of the brain produced by infection.

Both dizziness and vertigo may be produced by damage of the semi-circular canals, or by diseases of the ear. For example, some object in the outer ear canal, blocking of the eustachian tube which leads from the throat to the ear, or middle ear infection may all be responsible.

A common cause of vertigo is Meniere's disease, in which there is swelling of the tissues connecting with the semi-circular canal. It is thought that this may come from allergy or oversensitivity. Injury to the head causing brain concussion or damage of the hearing nerves may cause dizziness or vertigo.

Blood Vessels

Changes in the blood vessels, such as hardening of the arteries, may produce symptoms usually described as dizziness.

Often, in normal persons, quick rising after lying down may cause a sensation of dizziness or vertigo. The same symptoms may be produced by the action of certain drugs such as aspirin, quinine, or streptomycin. The latter may cause permanent damage to the internal ear or the hearing nerve.

It can be seen that with the variety of causes which may produce dizziness or vertigo, there is need for thorough study to find the cause so that helpful treatment may be utilized.

Briggs-Knerr Wedding Vows Read Thursday

Mr. Strawder C. Briggs of New Holland announces the marriage of his daughter Mabel Elizabeth to Mr. Oscar Knerr of Wapakoneta, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Knerr.

The single ring service was read by Rev. Allan W. Caley in Grace Methodist Church at 9:30 A. M. on Thursday March 16.

The print crepe street length dress worn by the bride was accented with smoke grey accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Forest McCune, sister and brother-in-law of the bride were attendants. The new Mrs. Knerr is a graduate of the New Holland High School and attended Wilmington College. She is now an elementary teacher in the Centennial School in Wapakoneta after having taught in the Frankfort and New Holland Schools.

Mr. Knerr attended school in Wapakoneta and is now engaged in the building-contracting business.

Following a brief wedding trip through the southern states the couple will reside at 506 West Benton Street, in Wapakoneta.

Larry Chrisman Is Honored on Fifth Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Chrisman entertained with a family dinner at their home on Sunday honoring their young son Larry who celebrated his fifth birthday anniversary.

The table seating the guests for the sumptuous meal was centered with a large decorated birthday cake topped with five candles.

During the afternoon Larry received a number of gifts and the guests enjoyed informal visiting and television programs.

Those included were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chrisman, of this city Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Taylor of Greenfield who are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart of Greenfield the great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Taylor, Mrs. Mildred Zeckafosse children Yvonne, Joan and Denny also of Greenfield, Miss Joan Taylor of Wilmington, Mr. Don Taylor of Hebron, and the Chrisman's other son Jimmy Don.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCoy, daughter Patricia and sons Mickey and Bill Jr. of Wilmington were additional afternoon guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Dewey and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chitty returned Sunday from a three weeks vacation spent in Bradenton and Hollywood, Florida.

Youngsters enjoy making their own candy. Make it the way they do. Melt a package of semi-sweet chocolate pieces over hot water and then stir in two cups of corn flakes, some raisins and some chopped pitted dried prunes. Drop the confection onto waxed paper with a teaspoon so as to make small rounds.

Parents Attend Son's Graduation

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hidy, Mrs. M. K. Evans of this city and Mrs. E. P. Williams of Dayton motored to Columbus Friday to attend the graduation exercises at Ohio State University when the Hidy's son Mr. James P. Hidy was one of six in his class graduating cum laude in the College of Education and he majored in biology and English. Following the graduation ceremonies, Mrs. Hidy entertained with a buffet supper at their home in Columbus, which carried out a clever St. Patrick theme.

Miss Carrie Gross and Mr. Louis Gross were in Columbus Sunday to attend the marriage of their niece Miss Lena Helen Gross, daughter of Mrs. Anna Gross, and the late Moses Gross, to Mr. Louis Ackerman also of Columbus.

The wedding was solemnized at five-thirty, o'clock in the evening at the Hotel Seneca, and the reception included 250 guests.

Mr. Thomas T. Craig of Huron, who has been spending the past few days as the guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Craig will return to his home Tuesday.

LIGHT BEARERS
The "Old Lamplighter" could be traced.

By lights along his way;
He wandered through the dark,
dark streets,

And left a shining way.

Men may be classified today,
As men who kindle lights,
Or those who leave a darksome way,
Leading to deeper night.

All hail the men who leave "Light Trails",

Where busy throngs press on,
Who kindle lights along life's way,
Inspiring cheery songs.

World benefactors are thus known,
The shining roads proclaim;
They've blazed safe trails for all mankind,
And written high their names.

W. H. WILSON
Washington C. H., Ohio

(This little poem is the one hundredth submitted to our readers through the Herald and was suggested by an illustration of the late Harry Lauder, who traced the old lamplighter through the streets of his home city by the lights he kindled. W. H. W.)

Hot breads can often double for dessert — homemade raisin bread, date loaf, or baking powder cinnamon twists. Serve a pitcher of milk with the breads for the youngsters in the family, and lots of good strong coffee or tea for the older people. If you choose tea, accompany it with milk—not cream.

Win A Couple Class

The Win A Couple Sunday school class of the Church of Christ met in the church basement, Friday evening, with 26 members, 11 children and one guest, Mrs. Breckle, present. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Breckle and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hough were hosts and hostesses for the meeting when Homer Wilson acted as president in the absence of Charles D. Glass. Mrs. Hough gave a reading, followed by a solo, "If I Have Wounded Any Soul Today," by Charles Breckle, and group singing of the class song, "Win Them One By One." Rev. and Mrs. C. H.

IF YOU FLY A KITE

Fly Your Kite with SAFETY

♦ Keep kites and kite strings away from electric power lines

• For safe kite flying that's all fun, watch where you fly your kites and keep away from electric wires—especially high voltage lines. Kite strings and kite tails can cause serious accidents if they tangle with high voltage lines. Wet string is particularly dangerous because it conducts electricity right down to shock the kite flyer.

Take no chances. The sure way to avoid danger of electric shock, serious burns or even death, is to keep kites at a safe distance from electric lines. Even if you don't get hurt, your kite may put out of commission a power line that supplies hospitals, fire pumps, homes and factories. Observe the safety rules of kite flying.

Remember the 5 RULES for safe kite-flying!

1. Never fly a kite near electric wires of any kind.
2. Do not use wire for a kite string. Twine with wire or kinsel in it is equally dangerous.
3. Never fly a kite with wet string.
4. Never run across streets or highways while flying a kite.
5. Never climb poles or trees to reach kites that have broken away and become caught in or near wires.

Civilian Defense Program Assailed

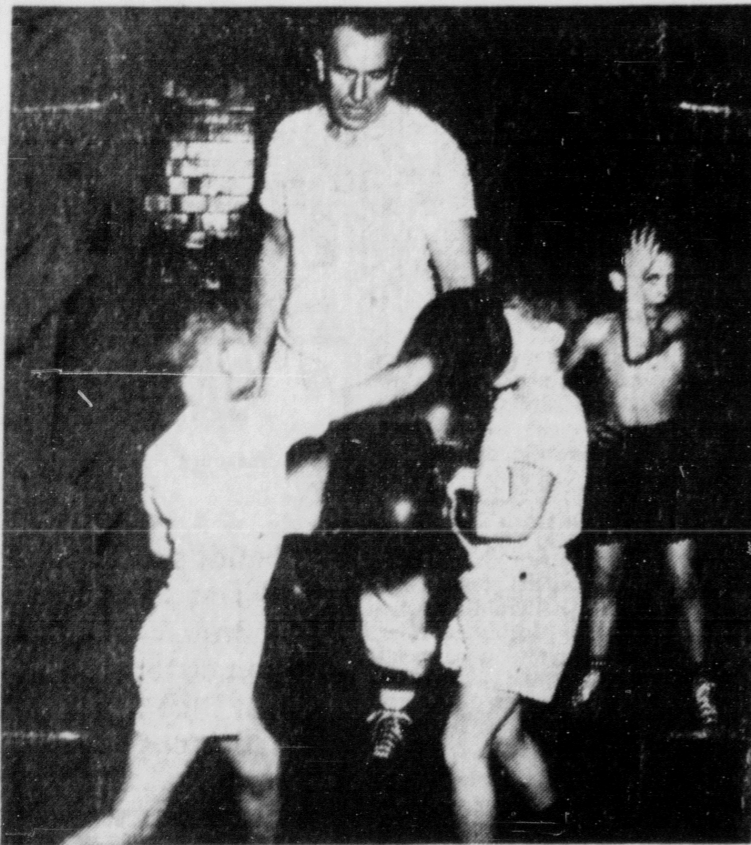

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said today a vast civil defense organization against atomic attack is not only unnecessary at this time but might even prove harmful.

The Colorado senator, a member of the Senate-House atomic energy committee, spoke out against "needless alarm and waste" at a time when there is no immediate threat of war.

He told a reporter the government should work out detailed civil defense plans and a program should be ready for operation "whenever there is real danger."

The oldest radio network, the National Broadcasting Company, was formed on Sept. 9, 1926.

Schoolboy Boxing Tournament Starts in WHS Gym This Week

Here are a couple of the little fellows who are to take part in the annual schoolboy boxing tournament that starts here Thursday night in the WHS gym. Johnny Core is shown as he stopped a big pile of padded leather with his face. Charles Pendergast is the slugger. Towering over the boys is Coach Fred Pierson, the tourney supervisor.

Eighty-six boys, ranging all the way from little fellows in the first grade on up to husky football players in high school, today were flexing their muscles and making like boxers.

Next week they'll get their first chance in the ring when the annual schoolboy boxing tournament gets under way.

The first scraps are scheduled for next Thursday night in the high school gymnasium. Then there will be a lapse until the following Tuesday, Mar. 28.

After that will come the semi-finals on Thursday night and the finals on Friday night.

There is no admission charge for the two nights of elimination bouts, but for the semi-finals and finals, it will cost school pupils 15 cents and adults 25 cents to get in. The proceeds are to go toward the bills for spring sports.

Winners Get Medals
The winners in the different classes are to get medals as well as honor.

The battlers are to be classified by grade and weight and age. The outs. Only two have turned up from Cherry Hill.

The youthful scrappers have been getting together in the WHS gym three afternoons after school a week for the last two weeks.

Whether all of those who have been working out will stick for the tourney is a question. Coach Pierson said some of them might drop out, but he expressed the conviction most of them would go on through to the end. Most of those entered have handed in permission from their parents already. Here is the list of those who have been getting in shape:

Morgan Horse Farm Battle in Congress

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP)—The battle of the Morgan Horse Farm was still being fought in Congress today.

The controversy opened recently when one group of Morgan fans told the House appropriations committee that unless it closed down the government's Morgan horse experimental farm at Weybridge, Vt., it would breed the Morgan right out of existence.

Yesterday, an opposing delegation warned the Senate appropriations committee that to stop funds for the farm would be a "fatal blow" to the breeding of light horses in the United States.

Merle D. Evans of Massillon, Ohio, president of the Morgan Horse Club, said in a statement to the committee that unless it doubles the $19,000 recommended for the farm by the budget bureau, it will be forced to stop operating in six months.

Good Hope Bowlers Pace Grange League

Standings in the Grange League today were essentially the same as they were before the eight teams took the Bowland alleys Saturday night for their 12th round of bowling this season.

Good Hope's two teams were still out in front. The No. 1 outfit from Wayne Township held the lead, but the No. 2 had to share second place with the Fayette Masters for another week.

The No. 1 Good Hope quintet lost two games to the Madison Aces, but the lead was sufficient to absorb the setback.

Both the No. 2 Good Hope team and the Fayette Masters each won two games of their matches. The Masters won the last two games from the Madison Specials and the Good Hope boys won the first two from the Madison Boosters.

In the other match the Madison Hustlers shut out the Fayette Executives.

Individual and team totals were of the run-of-mine variety.

Launderers Lead In Couples League

A clean sweep of their Sunday night bowling match at Bowland put the Sunshine Launderers out in front in the Couples League. They won all three games from the third place Lowe's Welders.

Before taking the alleys the Launderers were tied at the top of the standing with the Producers. But, the Producers were knocked off in their last game by the M & L Printers. That left them a game behind the Launderers.

Two other clean sweeps were turned in Sunday night. Anderson's Drive-inners blanked the Pure Pointers and Jean's Marketters did the same thing to Hall's Upholsterers in their match.

The Launderers racked up the high team total-1984.

Rife Cagers Split Twin Bill

The Rife cagers came from behind to whip the Antioch All-Stars, 61-49, in the opener and then lost a speedy Wittenberg crew, 58-48, in a doubleheader at Antioch College in Yellow Springs Sunday afternoon.

Rife's roared away to a 17-12 lead over Antioch after the first quarter.

When the teams went into action again in the third period, Rife exploded and scored 27 points to Antioch's nine and the lead shifted again to Rife, 50-41, as Jim Johnson got red-hot on one-hand shots.

The game got a little rougher in the final period, but Rife maintained their lead by outscoring Antioch, 11 points to eight and hitting paydirt, 61-49.

Dick Andrews was the steadiest pointmaker for Rife, hitting for 15 points. Johnson got 12, all in the second half and with Frelan Van Meter, turned in a good game under the boards.

Southpaw Bob Harder sunk six baskets to lead the losers, while teammate Shelly Blackman garnered 11 points.

Sewell still believes Lou Klein will fill the spot at second base but he's taking no chances in view of Klein's weak throwing thus far. The Reds lost all of their power yesterday. They got only seven hits in taking a 4 to 2 beating from the Cards.

The game was particularly important to Cincinnati, however, in that Ewell Blackwell made his first start.

The lanky right-handed pitcher went three innings and gave up only one hit and one run. He was the losing hurler but both he and Sewell expressed encouragement.

Blackie Looks Good In First Appearance

TAMPA, Fla., March 20—(P)—It looks as if Harry (Peanuts) Lowery might be the Cincinnati Reds' starting second baseman when the National League baseball season opens.

Manager Luke Sewell has been experimenting with Lowery at various times and yesterday he brought the former Chicago Cubs outfielder in to play the last three innings at the keystone spot in the game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Sewell still believes Lou Klein will fill the spot at second base but he's taking no chances in view of Klein's weak throwing thus far. The Reds lost all of their power yesterday. They got only seven hits in taking a 4 to 2 beating from the Cards.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE
SHAYNE paused and once again his gray eyes went over the group. Timothy Rourke had his notepad on his knee, but his pencil was idly in his right hand which hung loosely at his side. His eyes were closed, and there was a look of extreme boredom on his face. Shayne said, "I think all this brings us to you, Voorland." Timothy Rourke came alive with a start. Voorland said, "To me? I do not see what..."

"To you and one more coincidence. This time the case of the great ruby expert who gave me all the inside dope on the manufacture of synthetic gems without even mentioning the earliest experiments by a German chemist, and a man named Michael. Remember those two gentlemen now, Voorland?"

Voorland appeared unperturbed. He fished out a stick of gum, unwrapped it, and popped it into his mouth before answering. After he methodically masticated it for a time he said, "Naturally I know about those experiments. But the Verne process..."

"Is the one in general use now," Shayne said. "I know all about that. Yet, I wondered..." Shayne suddenly turned away from Voorland and addressed the others. "You see," he said, "we come back again to the curious fact that during the past several years Voorland has apparently succeeded in cornering the finest star rubies in the world. From the beginning, I toyed with the possibility of those gems being spurious."

"I know," he went on wearily, as both Voorland and Randolph raised themselves partially from their chairs. "It simply can't be done. And you, Randolph, appraised the ring purchased by King. Also, you appraised the Dustin bracelet, while another insurance man appraised the Kendrick pendant. Still... I wondered..."

Shayne hesitated for a moment. The lines of his gaunt face were drawn, his brows knitted, but his gray eyes gleamed. "If they were artificial... If Voorland had actually discovered some secret process of manufacturing star rubies, I could see a profit in it for him. But I couldn't see how that hooked up with their sudden theft and complete disappearance. Not until I read a few paragraphs in an old encyclopedia and found out about the earliest known process of making artificial rubies. They didn't call those gems synthetic, but reconstructed gems. That's because that is what they were. Reconstructed from a number of smaller stones. The reason that original process was discarded was two-fold. It was almost impossible to completely eradicate the faint lines of fissure where the smaller stones were joined, and they were very brittle and likely to burst asunder from interior pressure at any time."

"Then I began to see a possibility," Shayne went on. He spoke rapidly, as though he wanted to get the thing over and done with, his eyes going over the group keenly. "Suppose Voorland... or someone else took Michael's process of reconstructing rubies and actually utilized the lines of fissure to reproduce a star ruby? Take six small stones of uniform size and cut them in triangular shape. Then, under pressure and terrific heat fuse the six stones into one large one having the asterism that makes them so valuable, and also marks them as natural stones."

Again Shayne paused to let his remarks sink in. "I began to see how even experts like Walter Voorland and Earl Randolph might be fooled by a job like that. Mental attitude counts for a lot in appraising jewelry. Ever since Verneul began making synthetic rubies it has been an accepted credo in the trade that a star ruby must be cut from the natural stone."

"So, I began to see how such a manufactured or reconstructed gem might be foisted off as the real thing on some sucker like James T. King by a jeweler with Walter Voorland's unblemished reputation."

"But think of the chance he takes. Suppose the brittle, reconstructed stone broke into pieces or blew up from internal tension. Then the truth would have to come out. Voorland would be ruined, his reputation shot and gone. It didn't seem to me that it was worth his taking such a chance, even if he had discovered such a process."

"The silence in the room was thick, the attitude of every man a study. Shayne's eyes once again studied their faces. The atmosphere itself seemed supercharged. "And that's where the sudden losses come in," he said. "That's the theory that explains why the rubies were stolen shortly after their purchase and never recovered. That way, Voorland could be safe from detection. All he had to do was to arrange a fast hold-up before the fraud was discovered, and have his purchaser fully covered by insurance in order that he wouldn't lose very much, if anything. That explained a lot of things."

"Do you honestly expect us to believe," demanded Earl Randolph incredulously, "that all those star rubies were fakes?"

Shayne said, "I'm positive they were. The ring sold to King; the pendant bought by Kendrick, and the bracelet stolen from Dustin last night."

"This is the most preposterous tissue of lies I ever heard," said Voorland angrily. "There are such things as libel laws, Shayne. I'm a wealthy man. I'd be insane to attempt any such trickery."

"I wonder if you are so wealthy," Shayne said. "I know you don't own much stock in the store you manage under your own name. You're nothing more than a hired hand over there, and I've got a hunch you've eaten your heart out for years watching the huge profits go to the stockholders while you had to be content with a moderate salary."

"Even if that were true," the jeweler protested, "I'd be the biggest fool on earth to sell fakes like that and trust to luck to be able to arrange a successful hold-up soon enough to recover the gems before they were discovered."

"He's perfectly right, Shayne," Peter Painter put in pompously. "He'd have no way of being sure a robbery would be successful. A hundred things could happen to circumvent it. The buyer might place the jewel in a safe deposit box immediately. He might leave the country the next day. Anything at all might come up to interfere with such an absurd plan. He'd be a fool to trust to luck."

"And Voorland is no fool," Shayne agreed. "So, I don't believe he trusted to luck. How much easier and surer to arrange with the buyers beforehand to pull their own fake robberies at once. Remember the King affair in Miami? It screamed 'Fake' through and through, but no one could pin it on King for lack of plausible motive. You told me that yourself, Randolph."

"Sure. It stunk from the word go," Randolph agreed. "But there wasn't any proof and we couldn't find any reason for him to have pulled the job."

"Reason enough," Shayne said. "If he knew the ring was a fake..."

when he bought it, and had arranged to split the insurance rake-off with Voorland. Of course you couldn't prove it, because the ring had disappeared. That's why it disappeared."

"This becomes more and more ridiculous all the time," Voorland declared angrily. "I can't believe you're serious, Shayne. Why would wealthy men like King and the others enter into such a dangerous arrangement with me?"

"I don't think any of them were wealthy."

"Good heavens! A man who pays a cool hundred thousand for a ring certainly isn't poor."

"I don't believe King paid you a hundred grand for the ring," said Shayne relentlessly. "I don't believe he paid you a cent. I believe you faked the sale... as you did the sales to Kendrick and Dustin each succeeding two years."

Voorland stopped his frantic chewing to retort, "This gets more and more absurd. I realize that Mr. King had been poor until he inherited a fortune, but these others... Kendrick and Mr. Dustin... are both wealthy men. I'm positive the insurance company checked Kendrick's background thoroughly, and I'm sure they will check Mr. Dustin's before they allow his claim."

"I'm quite sure they will," Shayne agreed calmly, "and I know exactly what they'll learn from Denver. I've had a detective working on that all morning. They'll discover no one in Denver knew him or ever heard of him until he popped up there with a bride two years ago... a very short time after Mrs. Kendrick was murdered in New Orleans... and after Kendrick himself dropped out of sight."

"I haven't yet mentioned the most remarkable coincidence," he went on with a trace of weariness, "namely, the unnatural physical resemblance of all three ruby buyers... King, Kendrick and Mark Dustin."

"I have descriptions of the three men here," He took a typewritten sheet of paper from his pocket. "All are said to be between forty and fifty. All are about six feet tall. All had gray eyes. King's hair was a faded gray at forty and he was thin and stooped from overwork and worry. Kendrick's hair was red, and he held himself erect and was described as slender and well-knit. You can all see Dustin for yourselves."

"But I remember King quite well," Earl Randolph protested. "He was worried looking and stooped..." He paused and turned his protruding eyes on Mark Dustin.

"Four years ago," Shayne reminded him. "Four years of wealth and good food, absence of worry and a beautiful young bride, can fill a man out and erase the wrinkles. Add some black hair dye..."

"I don't know what kind of cock and bull story you're trying to frame," Dustin said angrily. "You started out by promising to arrest a murderer here. If you've got anything to say, why don't you stop this foolishness and say it."

"Cut it out, King," Shayne snapped. "I've checked and know your story of an inheritance from a rich uncle in Los Angeles was hog-wash. It was cooked up between you and Voorland when he went to Massillon, Ohio, in nineteen forty-three with this fantastic plan of his and pretended to be a lawyer named Norwood... or Northcott. He knew the insurance company would investigate your background before paying the claim, and had to fix up a legitimate excuse for you to be buying hundred thousand dollar rubies."

By RAY BRANDENBURG

A prominent Middle Western Doctor recently gave a speech on laughter. He says laughter's the finest medicine ever discovered. Not only that... but it's cheaper than aspirin. A good guffaw exercises your innards and stirs up your circulation. At the same time it causes you to gulp extra air and that pumps more oxygen into your mind and body. That's better than money in the bank, says the doctor. There's no doubt a happy person is a healthier person in every way. So, as the poet says, "Laugh and the world laughs with you." And remember... "he who laughs first laughs longest."

Out primary elections are important. Every voter should interest himself in his party primary--know who is running--what he believes in--know whether a candidate wants to represent the voters who may elect him or whether he wants your vote just as a personal stepping stone to another political post--a post where he may have to betray you in order to be elected to that post.

Many otherwise sound business men and workers alike are today selling out their heritage of individual freedom by voting for politicians who promise them federal aid for an airport, a bridge, an army camp, federal loans for new businesses, larger old age pensions, etc. These same men would refuse $10.00 or $100.00 in cash money in payment of their votes. When a senator or a representative promises, if elected, he will spend other peoples money--tax money--for our special benefit--we are selling ourselves down the river if we vote for him.

This thinking is responsible for the outlandish taxes we pay today--and it is finally reaching all the way down into every individual's pocket--no one is now tax-free. We should call a halt to new taxes--we should reduce present taxes. To do this we must have the "guts" to refuse to sell our vote, whether it is to be paid for in the form of airports, bridges, so-called "free" medical "insurance" or something else.

It is said when Caesar died they performed an autopsy to find out what made him the great man he was--and that when they opened him up that they found was "guts."

Newspaper Warns Against Secrets

ALAMOSA, Colo., March 20--(P)--The Alamosa Courier doesn't like "off the record" remarks by public speakers. Nor does it like to be accused of violating confidences.

So it's met the problem by printing a card and has its reports hand one to the speaker whenever they cover any sort of meeting. The card says:

"For your information there is a representative of the Daily Courier in the audience. Please do not say anything 'off the record' or anything you do not want printed. Our policy is that any statement said in public to a large gathering of people, cannot be kept a secret. Anytime two or more people know something in Alamosa, it isn't long until everybody knows it. So, we cannot refuse to print anything newsworthy that you say today. Thank you."

Officers Nab Violators of Traffic Laws

Three Racers Among Those Cited for Weekend Offenses

Numerous arrests were made by the state highway patrol and police over the week-end for various traffic violations, which ranged from driving while drunk to crossing yellow lines.

Cases reported by State Highway Patrolman M. E. Brinkles and John Wyatt follow:

Harold R. Nash, Columbus, 54, driving 75 miles an hour on Route 62, north. He posted $15 bond for appearance in police court here Monday.

Gene M. Malcolm, 21, Wilbur H. Cooper, 33, and John T. McMurray, 25, all of Greenfield, cited for reckless operation.

The patrolmen said the Greenfield trio apparently were racing. When the patrolmen took a hand in the situation, they obtained the numbers and started rounding up the three drivers. McMurray dropped back though and turned off a side road.

Later his car was found in Washington C. H. parked by a curb, and police towed it to a garage. When McMurray showed up at police headquarters, the citation to appear on a reckless operation charge was served on him.

The trio posted bond for their appearance in police court Monday.

Samuel Cochran, Jr., 23, Columbus, posted $15 bond after being taken into custody for passing another car in yellow line area.

Bernard Meyer, Universal, Pa., posted $15 bond on a reckless operation charge. He was picked up on U. S. 22 west.

Police arrested David Damon Vance, 39, city, R. 2, on a driving while drunk charge.

Dorothy Mae Walters, 25, city, was cited for driving an automobile which bore an expired Kentucky license.

Police also picked up Leroy Crabtree on a drunk and disorderly charge, and he was to appear in police court Monday.

Man Arrested Here Taken to Wisconsin

Tom Gruski, who was living here under the name of Gray and who was arrested by police here a few days ago on a warrant from Appleton, Wis., was on his way back to Wisconsin Monday, in custody of Sheriff L. J. Schlitz, who came here Sunday to obtain his man.

Gruski is wanted for violating his parole for non-support, and will find time added to his sentence as result of leaving Wisconsin while on parole.

New Martinsburg PTA To Meet on Tuesday

The New Martinsburg PTA will meet at 8 P. M. Tuesday at the New Martinsburg Town Hall, it was announced today by the president, Mrs. Robert Ritter. The business session will be devoted to the election of officers. The program of entertainment will be in charge of Betty Smith. A Greenfield high school youngster will perform some tricks of magic for the group.

DIVORCE SOUGHT

Delbert L. Conrad bringing suit for divorce from Mary Conrad to whom he was married Sept. 14, 1946, at Alexandria, Va., charges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. Ray R. Maddox represents Conrad.

SEPARATION ASKED

Divorce and restoration to her maiden name of Wilma Jean Howard, are asked by Wilma Jean Burden, a minor in a suit filed in common pleas court against Gerald Dean Burden. The parties according to the plaintiff, were married Feb. 27, 1949. Gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty are charged. Lillian A. Trueblood is attorney for the plaintiff.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE

Married Sept. 1, 1927, Lela Ellen Bowen has filed her petition in common pleas court, asking for divorce from Sylvester E. Bowen, on grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. The parties have seven children, four of whom are at home.

Custody of their four children, funds for their support, and other relief also are asked by the plaintiff, who is represented by Charles S. Hise.

ADMINISTRATORS NAMED

Ray R. Maddox has been named administrator of the estate of George R. Dean with bond fixed at $7,000, which was furnished. The probate court has named Anna Lee Snyder administratrix of the Darel R. Snyder estate.

INVENTORY APPROVED

An inventory filed in the matter of the guardianship of Judith A. Henkleman, has been approved by the probate court.

The probate court has approved inventories filed in the following estates: Darel R. Snyder and Charles H. Bryant.

NO ADMINISTRATION

The probate court has relieved the estate of Robert Bailey from administration.

Boy Driver Leaves Scene of Accident

Sheriff Orland Hays was called to Jeffersonville Saturday night to investigate an accident in which a boy driver had left the scene of the crash.

Sheriff Hays located the 15-year-old boy driver at Shady Grove. The boy said he had been driving his brother's car, and he was so frightened over the mishap that he drove home. He had no driver's license.

No charges have been filed against the youth as yet.

Young Prisoner Attacks Highland County Sheriff

Sheriff F. F. Gustin of Highland County was badly beaten Sunday night when attacked by a 17-year-old prisoner, Russell Taylor, as the sheriff went to take supper to the prisoner.

Sheriff Gustin sustained wounds about the head, which required 40 stitches to close, and he suffered considerable loss of blood.

The youth used a heavy stick, which he admitted having taken from a window, in his surprise assault on the Highland County sheriff.

William Woolard, city patrolman, who was on the first floor of the jail, went to the rescue of the sheriff, alone on the second floor with the prisoner.

Taylor was arrested by Wilmington police, Saturday night, on suspicion of theft of a motor vehicle. He gave no reason for the attack.

Tom Daugherty, city patrolman, suffered a wrist fracture in a fight with Taylor when he sought to question Taylor after Sheriff Gustin was taken to the hospital. Daugherty found a black-jack on the boy.

Crash Saturday Injures Seven

Car, Pick-Up Truck Crash on Route 70

Seven persons were injured, three of them severely, Saturday about noon when an automobile driven by James Wackman Jr., 28, of Washington C. H. collided with a pick-up truck driven by Charles Spetnagel on Route 70, six miles south of Washington C. H.

With Wackman at the time were Clyde Hudson, Manford LeMaster, Bill Coil, Max Garringer and Bill Pollard.

LeMaster suffered a badly bruised right leg and other injuries.

Hudson had cuts about the face, which required several stitches to close, and Wackman suffered back injuries of a serious nature.

They were taken to the offices of Dr. J. E. Rose and Dr. Paul S. Craig in the Kirkpatrick ambulance. Coil, Garringer and Pollard were not badly hurt.

State Patrolmen who investigated the wreck, said Wackman stated that no signal was given by Spetnagel as he turned into a gateway on Route 70.

The pick-up truck was overturned twice, and both vehicles were badly damaged.

Second Pilgrim Church Revival Is Under Way

A revival got under way at the Second Pilgrim Church on Paint Street, Sunday night, with Mrs. Ralph Dillard, of Springfield, the evangelist.

Previous announcements had said the series would start March 29.
